OH, WHAT A DIFFERENCE.
I dreamed that I dwell on the Isle of Cracked Ice.
In the midst of a lake of champagne,
Where bloomed the mint julep in meadows of green,
Amid showers of lithia rain.
I reclined on a divan of lager beer foam,
With a pillow of froth for my head.
While a spray from a fountain of sparkling gin fizz
Descended like dew on my bed.

From far-away mountains of crystalline ice
A zephyr refreshing and cool
Came wafting the incense of sweet muscatel
That sparkles in many a pool.
My senses were soothed by the soft purring song
Of a brooklet of pousse cafe
That rippled along over pebbles of snow
To a river of absinthe frappe.
Then lulled by the music of tinkling glass,
From schooners amazingly deep,
I dreamily slipped a ligh ball or two
And languidly floated to sleep.

And then I awoke on a bed full of rocks,
With a bolster as hard as a brick,
A wench on my neck, a rack in my head,
And a stomach detestably sick;
With sand in my eyes and a grit in my throat,
Where the taste of last evening still clung,
I then felt a bath towel stuffed into my mouth,
Which I afterward found was my tongue.
And I groped for the thread of the evening before
In the mystified maze of my brain.
Then suddenly a great light burst upon me at last—
I'M OFF OF THE WAGON AGAIN!

Prof. D. S. Clinger, Superintendent of Schools, has the "know how," in more things than one. He was commissioned by the Home-Coming Committee to prepare the matter for a souvenir folder, and he has drawn a map showing Mayville as the "hub" around which such "fellows" as Huntington, Lexington, Cincinnati and Columbus revolve. The idea is not only unique; it is impressive and instructive as well.

UNFORTUNATE ACCIDENT

Horse, Buggy and the Occupants Roll Down Steep Embankment

Mr. Glenn Marsh and Miss Grace Moran, both residing in the Jersey Ridge neighborhood, met with an accident yesterday afternoon that came near terminating fatally.

They had been driving on the German town pike, and had arrived at and had started down the road leading to Charleston Bottom, when the horse shied and before it could be controlled the buggy upset, and horse, buggy and occupants rolled down the steep embankment at Mr. Wat Neal's place, taking a portion of the fence with them.

Several persons who saw the accident ran to their assistance, and after they were gotten out and brought to Dr. John A. Reed's office here it was found the young man's right arm was broken between the wrist and elbow and numerous bruises and scratches on his body, while the young lady's right collar bone was broken and she was otherwise injured.

After being properly attended to by Dr. Reed they were taken home.

AFTER all, probably THE LEDGER and The Bulletin made a mistake in not charging the full statutory price for printing the Street Paving Ordinance, instead of charging only one-fourth of that sum. Their generosity doesn't seem to have met with anything better than a public accusation of "exorbitancy," and threatened ostracism.

THE Washington correspondent of The Times-Star says if Congress passes the bill reported to the Senate from the Committee on Public Buildings and Grounds, Washington will have two or three new Government Buildings. The Committee in the bill recommended an appropriation of $3,000,000 to provide a site and buildings for the Departments of State, Justice and Commerce and Labor, and it also recommends the land facing on Pennsylvania avenue between Fourteenth and Fifteenth streets, and running down to almost the Washington Monument. This will make the new building face the avenue nearly opposite the Treasury Building, and across the street from the new Municipal Building, now in course of erection. The bill contemplates the removal of the State Department from the building now occupied by the State, War and Navy Departments, and taking the Departments of Justice and Commerce and Labor out of rented buildings scattered all over the city and housing them in the new building. The idea at present is to erect two buildings for these Departments and appoint a Commission to prepare preliminary plans to discover the cost of the erection of buildings on the proposed site. If it is found that three buildings of sufficient size can be erected on the site proposed, which covers about four city blocks, the Commission is instructed to recommend the erection of two and possibly three buildings. They are to be classical in design, three or four stories in height, including basement. The reason the proposed site is chosen is that the Secretaries of the Departments desire their offices to be as near the Executive Mansion as possible. The Departments of Justice and Commerce and Labor are now occupying twelve rented buildings in different sections of Washington. The Department of State is greatly overcrowded in its present quarters, and is now occupying less available space in the State, War and Navy Building than was intended when the building was completed in 1875. The removal of the State Department from this building will also relieve the congestion in the War and Navy Departments, which are now compelled to rent outside buildings for the various bureaus and divisions of their Departments.

Harper's Weekly.

Representative John Sharp Williams of Mississippi is considered to be possessed of the keenest and most sarcastic wit of any member of that body.

Last spring Mr. Williams, in order to reach a certain town in time to make an address to a political meeting, was obliged to avail himself of a notoriously slow train.

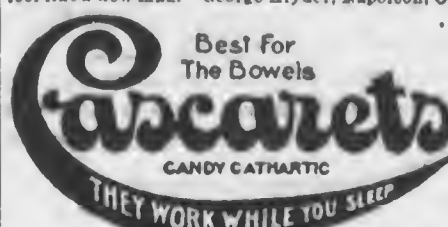

The train made its fifteen or twenty miles an hour all right, but to the impatient Williams it was the slowest thing on earth, and he told the conductor so several times. Finally, the latter, as is not uncommon in such cases, took these observations to be in the nature of personal insults. "If you don't like the speed of the train you can get out and walk," he exclaimed angrily, not knowing the identity of his passenger.

Far from being crushed Williams calmly replied, "I would, only the good people of Augusta don't expect me till the train gets in."

I am entirely cured and feel like a new man." George E. Lyder, Napoleon, O.

Death-Bed of Gen. William Nelson

Historical Register, Frankfort.

The writer of these lines heard the shot of the pistol and saw the gathering crowd around the door and the stairway, and was first apprised of the terrible affair by General McCook calling out that General Nelson was shot. Among those who gathered around and assisted in carrying the dying man into an adjoining room and placing him upon a bed, besides General McCook, were General Crittenden, Colonel George T. Cotton and Silas F. Miller, the proprietor of the hotel. To the latter he said, "Send for a clergyman, I wish to be baptized. I have been basely murdered." General Crittenden, his most intimate friend, bent over him, and to him he said in a hoarse whisper: "Tom, they have murdered me." When the Rev. Dr. Talbot of the Episcopal Church, who was instantly called and fortunately happened to be coming out of the dining-room when the fatal shot was fired, came up to the bedside, the General called out in a military peremptory tone, "Get down on your knees and pray for me." The Minister uttered a short prayer, and then, after repeating the apostle's creed together, the rites of baptism were administered to the dying man.

Dr. Anderson N. Ellis

"Nothing in his life became him like the leaving it." His last words were: "I forgive every man that has ever tried to wrong me; I have nothing to say against any one in the whole world." In thirty minutes after the firing of that fatal shot he was dead.

The next day, along in the afternoon, there was a great and, to my boyish eyes, a very touching military funeral, for, let it not be forgotten, Buell's army of 68,000 soldiers was in and around Louisville. More than forty years have come and gone on the wings of light and shadow since then, yet there still lingers on the retina of my memory the picture of the long lines of men in uniform, the vast crowds of people thronging the streets, the riderless horse, the two swordsmen draped in black upon the saddle, led by the colored servant, and the coffin of my poor, dead friend resting upon a gun carriage. Again I hear the tolling of the Church bells, mingled with the sad, solemn strains of military music, and upon arriving at the door of the Church the opening sentence of that beautiful and touching service, "I am the resurrection and the life." As one of the pall-bearers, I staggered upon the long aisle under the heavy burden, and then laid my head over on the coffin and wept like a child. Never until that moment did I realize the meaning or the value of the promises of the religion of Jesus Christ first taught to me at my mother's knee. In my heart of hearts I thanked God for the hope of a better land—for the vision of eternal life, and that far above the smoke of battle, far beyond the weary marches of life, the sighing and the dying, the strife, the suffering and the tears of this sin-cursed, war-scarred world, my old commander was at rest, and that in the sweet bye-and-bye I would take him by the hand, look into his face and know him as I am known.

The next morning, with heavy hearts and weary feet, we turned away from the new-made grave in beautiful Cave Hill Cemetery, and along the dusty pikes and past the autumn-tinted hills we took up the route-step that led us in nine days to the bloody field of Perryville.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Finance Committee Asks Contributions For Entertainment of the Visitors

MAYSVILLE, KY., May 9th, 1906.
To Mason County People: As Chairman of the Finance Committee, I take this means to ask every family to render what financial assistance it can, in order that the Committee on "Home-Coming" can make the home-coming a grand success.
Possibly 75% of every family in Mason county will have relatives or dear friends coming here for this event, and it is a question now of money—how well we will be able to entertain them.
The Entertaining Committee is now waiting on our Committee to see how much money will be at their command.
Kindly send me what you can. It matters not how little, for every contribution will be highly appreciated.

TRANSFERRED TO GEORGETOWN

A Fair Trial in Kentucky Court is All That Hon. Caleb Powers Asks

Caleb Powers, Kentucky's noted prisoner, who had been confined in the Newport Jail since last July, was on Saturday transferred to the County Jail at Georgetown where he is to be tried for the fourth time on the charge of complicity in the murder of Senator Goebel.

He was in charge of Deputy United States Marshal Emmett Orr.

MAKES STATEMENT.
Before leaving Newport he was asked—
"What chance have you for a fair trial the next time?"

"If the prosecution had ever intended that I should have a fair trial they never would have objected so strenuously to my trial taking place in a Federal Court, where a fair trial would have been assured me," he replied.

"A fair trial is all I have ever asked. A fair trial is all I now ask. A fair trial means my acquittal. The prosecution know this and have been determined for the last six years that I be deprived of such a trial.

"You don't have to give a guilty man six years of unfair and illegal trials in order to convict him. You can convict a guilty man without that. It is entirely unnecessary to appropriate $100,000 with which to prosecute the guilty.

"If a man is guilty it is unnecessary to bribe or suborn witnesses in order to establish it. If a man is guilty it is unnecessary to indict a dozen men with him and then give eleven of those men their liberty, provided they will swear away the life of the other one.

"If Culton and Golden and Cecil and Steel and others are guilty, why should they be given their liberty provided they will swear away mine?"

"Is it true, as stated by a leading paper some days ago, that you said you objected to being tried by any Kentucky Jury?"

"I never made any such statement. I am a Kentuckian through and through. I would as soon be tried by a Kentucky Jury as any Jury on earth. The thing to which I object is being tried by Goebel's friends and my enemies.

"The prosecution has maintained all the time that there is no politics in my case. If that be true, it ought not to make any difference to the prosecution if all the Jurors in my next trial are either Independent Democrats or Republicans.

THANKS FRIENDS.
"If there is politics in it, as everybody knows there is, I ought to be given some sort of a show by letting the Jury be divided, especially politically. Let the prosecution answer by its conduct.

"But I want to say to my friends, who have stood so loyally by me and for which I will ever be grateful, that I will sooner or later win my case, whether I am given a ghost of a show or not.

"The right must and will prevail in the end. "Don't forget to thank the people of this part of the state and the Jailers and his deputies especially, for their kindness to me while I have been here."

WEAK KIDNEYS MAKE WEAK BODIES.
Kidney Diseases Cause Half the Common Aches and Pains of Maysville People.

As one weak link weakens a chain, so weak kidneys weaken the whole body and hasten the final breaking-down.

Overwork, atrain, colds and other causes injure the kidneys, and when their activity is lessened the whole body suffers from the excess of uric poison circulated in the blood.

Aches and pains and languor and urinary ills come, and there is an ever-increasing tendency towards diabetes and fatal Bright's disease. There is no real help for the sufferer except kidney help.

Doan's Kidney Pills act directly on the kidneys and cure every kidney ill. Maysville cures are the proof.

W. H. Paul, carpenter by trade, living at 333 East Third street, Maysville, Ky., says:

"I value Doan's Kidney Pills as highly today as I did when I first used them in 1899. I got a box and used it for a pain in my back and other evidences of a disordered condition of the kidneys which had given me much trouble for two years or more. This remedy acted promptly and I was soon cured. I did not notice any of the difficulties until some four years later, or about a year ago. I again procured Doan's Kidney Pills at J. James Wood & Son's Drug-store and all symptoms of the trouble were quickly and thoroughly removed. Since then I have not noticed any signs of trouble of any kind arising from my back or kidneys. I most cheerfully re-indorse Doan's Kidney Pills, for they are certainly worthy of recommendation."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents a box. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no substitute.
